Tarry Lodge is an Italian trattoria designed to provide a casual environment for the gathering of friends, family, or business associates.

Located in a historic building on the corner of Elm Street & Park Street in New Haven, Connecticut, just steps from Yale University, Tarry Lodge boasts award-winning service and cuisine by Michelin acclaimed Chef, Andy Nusser.

Tarry Lodge offers an impressive wine list and menu that includes house-made pasta, fritti, and meats cooked over a grill.

The pizza bar is wrapped around an oven crafted by Valoriani, the storied family operation that has constructed ovens outside of Florence since 1890.

LARGE GROUP DINING

We offer large group dining options for parties of 13-36 guests.

Groups are seated at multiple long tables next to each other in their own area of the restaurant.

Large group dining menus are the same as private dining; please inquire for pricing.

Groups of 12 guests or fewer may choose to order à la carte at no additional cost.

PRIVATE DINING

Although there are no separate private rooms at Tarry Lodge in New Haven, the restaurant is a petite venue that is the perfect size to host a group of 25-65 for a seated meal.

For groups of 40 or less there is plenty of room for a standing cocktail reception followed by a seated meal.

The restaurant is the perfect place to host holiday parties, celebratory dinners, or business meetings.
